30 YEARS: WOMEN AND LATIN AMERICA

For 30 years, Pro Mujer has been on the front lines working hand in hand with women in Latin America to help break the barriers to their empowerment -high rates of gender- based violence and teen pregnancy, migration crises, discrimination, lack of health care access to name some.

Our 30-Year Retrospective Exhibition looks back at the progress our region has made, celebrates the role women have played in advancing gender equality and recognizes the work Pro Mujer has done to empower them. You will see many stories of women like Mariah Araceli Acosta who was able to change her gender identity on her ID card in Argentina. This was an important moment for Mariah to feel included and counted in her own community. She has also taken the reins opening her own business selling food to help her family economically and go to beauty school. We know that when we invest in women, we invest in an entire community. We hope this exhibition inspires you to continue fighting for women's rights.

ABOUT THE EXHIBITION:

Weaving together stories and facts, this 30-year retrospective exhibition showcases milestones for women in the Latin America region and invites participants to witness the role of Pro Mujer within Latin America's broader historical context.

This event-in-a-box comprises a set of ready-made materials and guides for different hosts in Latin America, the U.S., Canada and Europe to easily create events and showcase our 30-YEAR RETROSPECTIVE exhibition throughout the year. This digital package can be sent to you online eliminating the cost of shipping and makes the exhibit easy to replicate.
